Competition conducted in 2025-2026

The competitions for Gender Champion Selection, were successfully organised from March 3 to March 5. The competition was conducted under the leadership of Dr. Lata Bajpai Singh (Chairperson of Gender Champions Committee).

Day 1: March 3, 2025 - The event began with a poster-making competition, allowing students to creatively express their perspectives on gender solidarity. Participants translated their thoughts into visuals to communicate their messages. Posters depicted themes like women's empowerment, gender inclusivity, breaking stereotypes, and violence against women.

The competition was judged by Dr. Namita Jaisal (Assistant Professor, Department of Hindi) and Dr. Lalima (Assistant Professor, Department of Education), the judges evaluated the posters based on creativity, relevance to the theme, and artistic execution. The judges lauded the participants for their innovative designs and strong conceptualization, highlighting how art serves as a powerful medium for social change.

In the second half of the day, Debate competition was organized. In the debate competition students passionately engaged in discussions on gender-related topics. Participants debated pressing issues such as representation of women in leadership, and equal pay for equal work. Each speaker presented well-researched arguments and references to support their viewpoints. The judging panel consisted of Dr. Baljeet Kumar Srivastava (Assistant Professor, Department of Hindi), Dr. Kunwar Surendra Bahadur (Assistant Professor, Department of Mass Communication & Journalism), and Dr. Namita Jaisal (Department of Hindi). They assessed participants based on clarity of thought, argument strength, rebuttal skills, and overall presentation. The judges praised the participants for their ability to articulate complex issues with confidence and logic, emphasizing the need for open discourse on gender equality.

Day 2: March 4, 2025: The second day began with the rangoli competition, where students used traditional art to depict gender equality and empowerment. Participants created intricate designs, symbolizing themes such as balance between genders, breaking barriers, and inclusivity. The event provided a blend of cultural expression and social messaging, making it both visually appealing and thought-provoking. The rangoli competition was judged by Prof. Neetu Singh (Professor & Head, Department of Food & Nutrition) and Prof. Shalini Agarwal (Professor & Head, Department of Human Development & Family Studies,). They assessed the designs based on creativity, theme representation, and overall artistic appeal. The judges were impressed by the participants' attention to detail and ability to weave powerful narratives through art.

In the second half of the day, Essay-writing competition was organized. The essay-writing competition offered students an opportunity to express their thoughts on gender solidarity through structured arguments and in-depth analysis. Participants wrote essays on various topics, including gender equity in workplaces, the role of education in dismantling stereotypes, and the impact of social media on gender perceptions. The essays showcased analytical depth, critical thinking, and persuasive writing skills. The judging panel, comprising Dr. Vibhuti Narayan (Assistant Professor, Department of Public Administration) and Dr. Salil Seth (Assistant Professor, Department of Management Studies), evaluated the essays based on coherence, originality, depth of analysis, and writing style. They praised the participants for their insightful perspectives and strong advocacy for gender inclusivity.

Day 3: March 5, 2025- The final day featured the extempore competition, testing participants' ability to think and speak on the spot. Each participant was given a topic related to gender solidarity and a few minutes to organize their thoughts before delivering a short but impactful speech. Topics ranged from gender-neutral policies to the challenges of women in leadership roles. The event was judged by Dr. Jaya Srivastava (Department of Sociology), Prof. Shura Darapuri (Department of History), and Dr. Baljeet Kumar Srivastava (Assistant Professor, Department of Hindi). The judges evaluated content relevance, clarity, spontaneity, confidence, and delivery style. Participants impressed the panel with their ability to articulate complex ideas in a structured and compelling manner. Additionally, Dr. Shikha Tiwari (Assistant Professor, Department of Education) and Mrs. Komal Singh (Assistant Professor, Department of Food & Nutrition) played key roles in organizing and coordinating the final event, ensuring its smooth execution.
